SHORT BIO 2021/2022

Brent Chancellor is Interim Music Director of Rutgers University Sinfonia, Music Director of the Rockland Symphony Orchestra and a Cover Conductor with the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra.

As the Founder and Artistic Director of LUX, his ambitious vision for programming and education has led to performances with Grammy® winning violinist Zach Brock and underrepresented young artists. A rising opera conductor, Chancellor is also Music Director of the New Jersey Vocal Arts Collaborative and a Faculty Conductor with the International Vocal Arts Institute.

Previous positions include Assistant Conductor with the Charleston Symphony Orchestra, Festival Napa Valley, Interim Music Director of the Rutgers University Sinfonia and Interim Music Director of the Montclair State University Opera Orchestra. He's served as an Assistant Conductor to Stéphane Denève, Martin West, Nicholas McGegan, Otto Tausk and Joel Revzen for concerts featuring André Watts, Leon Fleisher, Robert Levin, Seong-Jin Cho, Angel Blue and Lester Lynch.
